

GALLINGER IS ACTING VICE-PRESIDENT

New Hampshire Senator Holds Responsible Position.

Washington, July 17.—Senator Gallinger, who is acting as president pro tem of the Senate for the month of July, in the absence of the vice president, finds many heavy responsibilities resting upon him.

Not only was he the presiding officer during the Lorimer case but now he is made the presiding officer for the Archibald impeachment proceedings. The special oath required to be taken by the special officer in impeachment cases was on Tuesday administered to Senator Gallinger by Senator Cullom of Illinois, whereupon Senator Gallinger assumed the duties of his office.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH DYNAMITE

West Bridgewater Man, Refused Drink, Explodes
Stick in Mouth.

Frankton, July 16.—After arguing with his son Andrew over the whereabouts of his money, and then declaring, "I'll fix myself so I'll be out of the way by night," John Norman, 72, of Brooks place, West Bridgewater, a minister by occupation, placed a stick of dynamite in his mouth at his home yesterday morning, touched it off and blew nearly his entire head off. He died instantly.

Part of his skull was found at the foot of the stairs leading to his room on the second floor, a portion of his brain was on the front step.

"Suicide by dynamite, brought on by excessive drinking," is the verdict of the medical examiner.

MADE CONFESSION OF HIS HEINOUS CRIME

Indictment Found for Murder of Little Julia Connors—Murderer Told Sister Horrible Details of Crime.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Events moved rapidly yesterday in the proceedings to fix the responsibility for the brutal murder of 12-year-old Julia Connors in the Bronx last week. The father of Nathan Swartz, the young hanger-on of pugilism, who has been sought in connection with the crime, admitted to the grand jury that his son had confessed to him that he was guilty of killing the girl.

Mrs. Frances Alexander, sister of the youth, corroborated the statement and gave the first details of the tragedy. At the conclusion of the hearing filled with sensational testimony the grand jury unanimously voted in favor of an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Mrs. Alexander's repetition of the story of the crime as she said her brother had told it to her, was detailed, explicit and telling in its revelations of horror.

Mrs. Alexander, according to Attorney Nott, told the jury that her brother said he had met Julia Connors Saturday night and asked her to take a pair of opera glasses to his home, which is just across the hall from the vacant flat where the murder was committed. The young man said he followed the girl and at the top of the stairs pushed her into the vacant flat and attempted to assault her. The child screamed, according to the story of Mrs. Alexander and then, Nathan said, he plunged his pocket knife into her. She continued to scream, the witness testified, and Nathan stabbed her until she finally fell and then plunged the knife into her breast near the heart. Then Julia remained still. Then, the witness continued, Nathan, went across the hall to his own home and procured the box in which the body was found. He placed the still living child in this box after cutting off her hair and put the box on the dumb waiter and let it slide to the bottom.

He went to the cellar and took the unconscious girl from the dumb waiter and laid her in the cellar. He then went home and went to sleep. Early the next morning, Sunday, he took the girl, still alive, into the lot, where she was found later.

Mrs. Alexander said she threw the youth out of her house when she heard the tale. He then went to his father's place of business and he told the same story, according to the father, who corroborated the daughter's testimony.

It was stated yesterday that the police know where Swartz is and as soon as the indictment is filed he will be arrested. Despite this the officials last night issued a second circular calling for the arrest of Swartz.

MANY AMERICANS ARE IN DANGER IN MEXICO

Dangerous Situation for Upwards of 500 American Citizens.

Juarez, Mex., July 16.—More than 500 American citizens, together with their wives and families, in towns along the Mexican Northwestern railroad, are threatened with isolation far from the American border with scant means of escaping depredations of Mexican rebels. Summarized facts became known today of the situation along the Mexican Northwestern to warrant the statement that it would cause no surprise if the Americans in all the towns along the line were warned to leave Mexico at once.

General Pascual Orozco, Jr., within the last twenty-four hours had ordered the Mexican Northwestern railroad destroyed between Pearson and Madern, 207 miles southwest of here, but the order has been mysteriously rescinded.

The railroad is owned by the Pearson interests, a British corporation, which likewise owns the Madern Lumber company. Nearly all of the employees, however, numbering more than 500, are Americans. The quarry before the officials today was to whom to apply.

It was said they did not wish to ask the British government to make representations for protection, for, while the property is British, the employees are American. For the Pearson officials, on the other hand, to order an exodus of their employees would mean to leave the properties and supplies at the mercy of the rebels, who already have looted the Madern company's storehouse of seven thousand dollars worth of goods.

That the Mexican Northwestern railroad, along which most of the rebel army now is stretched, is doomed to destruction, is generally admitted, for the rebels intend to harness the government forces moving northward, from Chihuahua, a city. It is feared that if the destruction of the railroad, and telegraphs, Americans marooned in the interior would have no redress if depredations by irresponsible rebel bands should occur.

It is desired, however, to take no chances, and the women and children in the American colonies will be moved at once to the United States.

FISHING CAPTAIN DIES ON HIS DECK

Gloucester, July 16.—William Malon son, 55, one of the best known captains of the fishing fleet, was found lying dead on the deck of the fishing schooner Senator Salisbury this afternoon by a boat man who had moored alongside an ellipsoid to the deck. The body had evidently been there all day, and it was thought that the captain, who was seen on Monday night, had taken a stroll on the deck and been overcome by the heat. He leaves a widow and two children.

SEVEN ACCUSED OF SHOOTING

Gambler Had Recently Charged the Police With Being In League
With His Fraternity

NEW YORK, July 17.—Through the alleged confession of a man under arrest, the names of seven men, said to have been parties in the sensational killing early yesterday of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, just as he presumably was to make important additions to his recent disclosures of alleged partnership between high police officials and members of the gamblers' fraternity, are believed to be in the hands of the police and additional arrests are expected to follow shortly.

ONLY ONE IDENTIFIED.

The police arrested the men in connection with the shooting of Rosenthal. The identity of only one of them as a member of the party who did the shooting has as yet been established, however, to the satisfaction of the police. This man, according to Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, is Louis Libby. He was chauffeur of the large gray automobile in which the party drove to and from the Metropole. He was arraigned before the coroner and charged with murder, but refused to make a statement.

One of the other two prisoners is a man whom the police were obliged to call "John Doe," because of his refusal to tell his name or discuss the shooting, although, according to the police, he was in the hotel at the time. The other prisoner was William S. Shapiro, said to be a partner of Libby, and who was arrested at the garage where the automobile was found.

Although evidence about the motive of the shooting, as thus far gathered, seems to show that Rosenthal had feared death at the hands of the police, the theory was brought forward that Rosenthal had really been the victim of the so-called "gamblers' fraternity," which took the opportunity afforded by Rosenthal's activity against the police to seek revenge for "squealing" on them.

It was learned that knowledge that Rosenthal was to "get his" was current among frequenters of various fashionable resorts and was a subject of common discussion some time before the shooting occurred.

Rosenthal was murdered only a few hours before he was expected to appear in the home of District Attorney Whitman and give further statements in an effort to substantiate the police grafting charges.

Within three hours after the murder, detectives visited a garage on Washington square known to the police as the headquarters of the taxi-cab robbers, who recently robbed bank messengers of $25,000 and captured a man disrobing himself, as Louis Libby, whom they made a prisoner on the charge of homicide. The police also recovered an automobile which, they say, was the one that figured in the murder.

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty asserted that eyewitnesses of the murder of Rosenthal identified Libby as one of the five men who drove up in front of the hotel, and calling the gambler from the dining room to the sidewalk, shot him down with a fusillade of bullets and then fled in the motor car. Rosenthal was shot five times in the head.

An alarm of fire at 9.15 o'clock this Wednesday morning from Box 14, at the foot of Market and Russell streets, called the department to the house on Noble's Island owned by Mrs. William Frost. The fire, which caught on the roof near the railroad track, was first discovered by the crew of a shifting engine at work on the island. The fire was extinguished with a small loss, principally to the roof of the building. The fire is supposed to have caught from sparks from a passing locomotive. This is the fourth alarm of fire that the department has responded to, within a short period.

The Elks by shutting out the P. A. C. on Tuesday evening, are tie with the Champions for second place in the league, both having won seven games and lost five. The game was won by the superior pitching of Sorette, who allowed but three hits and two of these were in the first inning. He got fine support from his team which as made up now is much stronger. DeRoehn caught and he played a fine game, keeping Sorette down so that he pulled out of one or two very bad places. Swasey was on first and he played a fine game, while Bruce played a great game at second, cov-and in the third when they had two men on third and second, but the necessary hit was not there.

The game in detail:

First Inning.
The P. A. C. were up and G. Woods hit between first and second that Bruce made a fine stop of and threw him out. Wilbur singled and Fredrick followed with a single, Wilbur going to third, Fredrick attempted to go to second and he was caught off second. Fisher retired the side on an infield fly to Bruce.

Score--Elks; 2; P. A. C., 0.
The Champions were out in order. W. Woods on a line hit to Sorette. Jewell on a fly to Weare and Locke was thrown out by Sorette.

The Elks scored one. Sorette was passed, and he stole second. Bruce struck out, Hanson hit to Locke, who started to get Sorette at third, and then they to first but too late to get Hanson, he stole second and Cragen hit to Mattison, who headed Sorette off at the plate. Fisher was hurt and in the excitement which followed Hanson stole home. Swasey retired the side on a long fly to G. Woods.

Score--Elks; 3; P. A. C., 0.

Third Inning.
The P. A. C. got two men on in this inning, but failed to score. Mattison struck out and Weare walked and was advanced to second on G. Woods' single to right and they all advanced on a wild pitch. Wilbur was called out on strikes and Fredrick hit to Bruce, retiring the side.

The Elks failed to score. DeRoehn was called out on strikes, Bunker singled, Fernald was thrown out by Weare and Estabrook by Mattison.

Fourth Inning.
The P. A. C. went out in order. Fisher struck out, Bill Woods walked and Jewell hit a high foul fly that Swasey caught. Woods attempted to steal and he overran the base and was out.

The Elks added three runs in their

Adams Brothers, Platt and Ben, Are Two of America's Olympic Heroes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 17--Two of the most popular heroes of the United States Olympic team are the Adams brothers, Platt and Ben. The two boys gave up their positions in New York in order to go abroad to help the American team carry off the international meet here. And both have made good. Together they added eight points to Uncle Sam's winning list. In the recent standing high jump Platt finished first and Ben second. The former's winning effort for the event of 5 feet 3 inches is the best Olympic mark since Ray Ewry cleared two inches higher in the games at Paris in 1900.

ering considerable territory. The P. A. C. had a change, owing to Ira Newicks injury, he is out of the game for the present and Wilbur was on first and he played a fine game there and the first time up got a hit but the second time with two men on he was called out on strikes.

Locke pitched for the Champions and he was not as effective as usual, the Elks reaching him for six hits, three of which were in the fourth inning, which coupled with a bad throw of Sperry's and his hitting a man counted for three runs. In the first inning the Elks scored two runs on an error, a passed ball, a wild pitch and base on balls and a man hit along with two singles.

The P. A. C. had a chance to score in the first when they had two hits, half. Sorette hit to Locke, who threw low to Wilbur. Bruce was thrown out by Locke. Hanson singled to center and scored Sorette. Cragen hit a long fly to G. Woods, who made a great catch of it. Swasey singled, DeRoehn was hit on the foot and Leary run for him, Bunker singled to left and Hanson and Swasey scored. Leary was caught between second and third, but Mattison hit him in the head in throwing to Fredrick and he reached third. Bunker was caught off second and Leary started for home and he was thrown out by Weare.

Score--Elks; 6; P. A. C., 0.

Fifth Inning.
The P. A. C. were out in order. Sperry Locke hit a long fly to center, Mattison fanned and Weare died out to Cragen.

Handicap at Havre De Grace.

BALTIMORE, July 17--It was made public by the management of the new race track at Havre de Grace, Monday that the first meeting of 30 days will begin on August 25 and close Sept. 20.
Six races of not less than $3000 in added money will be run each day. The opening feature is the Havre de Grace handicap of $1500.

BITS OF SPORT

Ray Collins is about the most consistent working jinx that the Detroit Tigers run up against in the course of the season, and Monday was no exception. There was no line in the game when the Tigers appeared dangerous, and when the hits were tallied Detroit had but six. Ray did not pass a man and struck out five.

Al Bridwell, the Boston team's shortstop, who has been out of the game all season owing to a case of blood poisoning, writes that he sees little prospect of playing again this season. It was expected that Bridwell would be able to get in the line-up during the next trip through the west.

Manager Fred Clarke, of the Pirates, does not believe in the policy of fining ball players for little infractions of the rules or misplays in games. He says that fines tend to make players sly and timid. The Pirate leader has had a long experience in the game and finds that a rebuke is more profitable of results than a fine.

Fred Williams, star outfielder and track man of Notre Dame University, has been signed by President Murphy, of Chicago, and reported to the club July 2. Williams is said to be fast on the bases and a clean-up hitter. Fushik, of the University of Wisconsin team, and Thomas, of the Rockford Club, also reported.

While the Glants are in Pittsburg Friday of this week, that day will mark the 10th anniversary of Manager John J. McGraw's first connection with the New York club. If the Glants were home on that day doubtless some appropriate celebration would feature the memorable day. But a "McGraw Day" will doubtless come later at the Polo grounds.

Manager Bronnhan, of the Cardinals, on July 5, indefinitely suspended third baseman Mike Mowrey. Bronnhan accused Mowrey of indifferent playing all season, and says he will no longer have Mike on his team. Mowrey has been taken out of the game.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 16.—The Stadium, in which most of the field and track events of the Olympic games were decided, underwent during the night a complete transformation. Today it was found to be planted with hydrangeas, and other bright flowers and studded with hedges, barred gates and walls, which had displaced the cinder path, the jumping pits and the gymnastic apparatus.

A brilliant audience, comprising many members of the royal family, the leading representatives of society and Swedish cavalry and artillery and cers with their wives, packed the banks of seats round the arena shortly before 1 o'clock. At that hour a long cavalcade of officers who were to compete in the military riding events entered the Stadium.

In their brilliant, many-colored uniforms, the representatives of the Armies of 10 Nations lined up in front of the royal box and saluted the King and Queen, and the other members of the royal family. As soon as they had given their military greeting the competitions were started with soldierly precision.

The fourth event, the prize jumping in the military competition, which comprises a distance ride, a cross country ride, an individual steeplechase and the prize jumping and prize riding, was completed in the afternoon, and at its conclusion Germany occupied first place with 118.25 points, the United States second with 117.49 and Sweden third with 117.07.

The American officers showed a great improvement over the form they exhibited at the last London horse show, and when it became known they had replaced the Swedes and taken second place they were greatly applauded.

The funeral service for the dead Marathon runner, F. Lazaro, of Portugal, who died from sunstroke, was held today at the Catholic church here. The body is to be taken to Portugal for burial.

One of the features of the closing day of the track and field competitions in the Olympic games yesterday was a scramble of the clubs to find out which had won the club championship. The victory goes to the New York A. C. with a total of 18 points, while the Irish-American A. C. is second with two points less.

The winners of the Mercury foot won three first places, the pole vault, 400-meter run and standing high jump. This was a feat which no other American club could accomplish.

In addition to this the New York A. C. athletes scored points for second places in the hurdle race and standing high jump and hammer throw and one point for the relay.

The Irish-American Club took first place in the shotput and hammer throw, seconds in the 800 meters run, 1500 meters run and two-handed shotput, one point in the relay and one in the team race. As three points went to the winning team in the relay and team race the individuals could only be credited with a point.

The Irish-American A. C. had Shepard in the relay and the New York A. C. had Reidpath. In the team race, the former had Donaghy. The total for the Irish-American A. C. includes McGrath's win in the hammer throw, although his registration card has not been transferred to that club. William McGrath's score this club would have to take third place, as a club from Finland had more points.

Matthew Halpin and Paul Pilgrim were generous in their hour of triumph for they did not object to McGrath's points being counted for the Irish-American A. C. The New York A. C. representatives will be photographed especially in the stadium tomorrow.

Palzer's Case Put Over.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Under the stipulation entered into by Nathan Vidaver, counsel for Thomas F. O'Rourke, and Stuncheff and Levy, attorneys for Albert Palzer, in O'Rourke's suit for an injunction restraining Palzer from fighting under another manager, O'Rourke had until Monday to file his complaint and take any further action he desired. The complaint was not ready yesterday and Mr. Vidaver obtained an extension to July 22.

At Mr. Vidaver's office it was said that his client would not ask for an injunction at any time before the determination of the suit, but that under the stipulation Palzer will deposit half the money he earns pending the suit in trust and if O'Rourke finally wins the case he will collect it. "This is done so Palzer can earn a living during the suit," it was said.

several times this season, and Brennan says he is through with him now for good. Wally Smith will play third for the Cardinals in future.

The rumor that Chase will figure in a deal is again in evidence. Perhaps the time has arrived when he will be traded. Chase is having his worst year. Domestic troubles have been the cause of it all. Chase has lost much of his popularity in New York.

Frank Schulte has apparently regained his batting eye. Up to recently last year's home run champion was of little service to the Cubs as a hitter. He is now hitting with some of his old vigor, and that is some vigor as we remember.

MUST GO ANYWHERE

State Soldiers Subject to Duty Abroad

A compromise has been reached between the war department, the organized militia, and the House committee on military affairs, as a result of which that committee, by a large vote, ordered a favorable report on the militia pay bill. As originally introduced by Representative Pepper of Iowa, this bill, while strongly advocated by the staff officers of the leading state militia organizations, did not appeal very strongly to Secretary of War Stimson and the general staff, who thought the sum of about $2,000,000, proposed to be spent annually in paying the militia, could be utilized better if spent directly on the regular military establishment.

There have been many conferences the last few months between officials of the War department and state adjutant generals, who came here to discuss, among other things, the pay bill, which has been redrafted several times until it reached the form adopted by the House military committee. Members of that committee assert that the measure is now satisfactory to the War department. Under its terms about $2,000,000 annually would be paid by the federal government to about ten thousand commissioned officers and about 112,000 men in the National Guard of forty-eight states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. The largest state militia organization is that of New York, with about 16,000 officers and men.

The compromise form of the bill as finally adopted provides that, under such regulations as the secretary of war, after conference with the National Militia Board, may prescribe, commissioned officers on the active list of the organized militia, participating in the appointment of the annual appropriations for the militia, shall receive pay at the rate of certain percentages of the pay of officers and enlisted men of like grade in the regular army, not including longevity pay, as follows:

Five per cent to all colonels, lieutenants, majors, chaplains and officers of the general staff.

Fifteen per cent to commanding officers of companies, troops, batteries, and ambulance companies, and to adjutants and quartermasters of regiments, independent battalions, squadrons, or coast artillery districts.

Ten per cent to all other officers belonging to regiments, smaller tactical units, or coast artillery districts, holding commissions below captain, including medical officers.

Twenty-five per cent to enlisted men. The enlisted militiaman is to receive this pay from the federal government if he attends not less than forty-five regular drills annually, and a proportionate amount for attendance upon a lesser number of drills.

The bill provides that the militiaman shall be paid twice annually, immediately after Dec. 31 and June 30. Officers and men over sixty-five years old, or who fail to qualify as to fitness for military service, or who do not agree to render military service to the federal government, are not to share in the proposed pay scheme.

A very important section of the act provides that the President, with the consent of Congress, in time of war, or when war is imminent, or in other grave emergency, requiring the use of troops in excess of the regular army, beyond the limits of the United States, may transfer any part of the militia into the regular army, for service during the balance of their terms of enlistment or commission, unless sooner released by order of the President, the units so transferred to have the same pay as regulars and be available for any duty. When organizations are called into federal service under existing law, or are transferred into the regular army under the provisions of the proposed Pepper act, only those organizations will be taken which have been paid under the proposed militia pay law, and they shall be taken into the army by regimental, brigade or independent organizations. When they are mustered out of such service with the regular army, each enlisted man must undergo a physical examination as a protection to the government in subsequent applications for pensions.

Conferences were continued today by the army council at the War Department on proposed methods of army reorganization. One of the important matters taken up by the council is the method of quartering troops. It has been proposed that the expensive army posts now maintained be abolished and the army quartered, by regiments, in the various cities of the country. This it was pointed out, would leave the men discharged after serving a single term in the immediate vicinity of their regiments and would operate to establish an effective reserve. The primary purpose of these conferences is to harmonize military sentiment first, and legislative sentiment secondarily, to the end that all legislation affecting the army may be in harmony with a basic policy which shall have the cordial approval of all army officers and the sympathy and support of all members of Congress. The "Stimson kindergarten" of military affairs is being conducted to that end.

One of the most serious obstacles which every secretary of war has had to encounter has been the wide diversity of opinion among army officers, which has enabled chairmen of the military committees hostile to any plan to secure "expert testimony" in opposition to the plans of the secretary. Mr. Stimson believes that by means of these conferences, at which every phase of the proposed reorganization will be thoroughly digested and discussed, and at which every officer who desires will be afforded an opportunity to express his views, the army sentiment will be coordinated. By inviting members of Congress to be present, the secretary hopes to gain the benefit of their advice and to enlist their sympathy for the broad policy which has, as the result of more than a year's work by the War College, been laid down as a basis for the proposed reorganization.

There is no expectation that any general scheme of legislation embodying the features of this plan will be enacted at this session of Congress. On the other hand, it is desired that in framing this year's army bill members of Congress shall have the proposed plan in mind, and shall so far approve it as to refrain from embodying in that bill anything at variance therewith. If Mr. Stimson can once effect a harmony of view between the military authorities and those charged with the responsibility of legislating for the army he will accomplish wonders, and after that each succeeding army bill will embody some steps toward the broad end to be achieved.

One of the features of the plan which is now criticized at the Capitol is the experimental organization of a supply corps, to be composed of a quartermaster, subsistence and pay departments. This is a provision on a permanent basis in the pending army bill, and it is believed it will be enacted unless the President again vetoes the army appropriation bill. The new proposition is to have this corps established on a temporary basis for two years. This is not favored by members of the House and Senate military committees, who think the plan impracticable.

Another feature which is criticized is

FIRE IN BASEMENT OF PLUMBER'S SHOP

A fire in the cellar of W. F. Washburn's plumbing shop on Bridge street, early Tuesday evening, for a time threatened to do considerable damage. The building, a frame structure, was occupied on the ground floor and cellar by W. F. Washburn as a plumbing shop, and up stairs by the family of Eugene Murphy.

Mrs. Murphy discovered the fire shortly after nine o'clock, and at that time there was considerable smoke coming up from the cellar. She immediately took her children out of the building and sent somebody to ring in an alarm from box 53 at the corner of Congress and Chestnut streets. When the department arrived there was considerable smoke issuing from the building. The fire was confined to the cellar and the damage will not exceed $150.

An Expensive Luxury.

The state tax commission, a creation of Governor Robert Perkins Bass, is an expensive luxury, according to the statement of a person conversant with its workings. Two of its members receive $2500 a year, while the third receives $3000. The commission maintains quarters in Concord and has in its employ a high priced clerk, as well as a stenographer. In addition their traveling expenses as well as the expenses for any other persons they may employ are paid for by the state. A conservative estimate of the amount required to pay the salaries and operating expenses of the newly created commission is $20,000 a year.

This is certainly a pleasing state of affairs for the mechanic or tradesman to contemplate, who has a little home, which by careful saving on the part of the good housewife and himself he is trying to get free from incumbrance so that he can call it his own.

He has to pay his proportion of the amount necessary for the support of this commission and others, the same as the man of unlimited means.

The visit of a member of the commission to confer with the local board of assessors was made on a holiday, as his time was so taken up with his other duties that he could not visit this city at any other time.

From this it would seem as though the members of this commission were receiving their $2500 a year, more as a gift than for services rendered.

There is such a thing as overshaking the plum tree.

Who Can Explain?

If possible, we would like to hear any reasonable excuse why the big $225,000 foundry and the $125,000 new bridge from the navy yard to the town of Kittery is not forthcoming. From all general appearances and what is whispered about these two important improvements for this yard, nothing but the department at Washington is engaged in this hold-up.

A New Moses.

A financial paper says the farmer, in brief, is the Moses who now promises to lead us out of the bondage of high costs of living. Evidently the person who applied this cognomen to the tiller of the soil did not have to pay $2 a bushel for potatoes last winter. It is to be hoped that the "new Moses" will not effect a corner in the potato market the coming fall.

We Will Be Glad to See and Hear Him.

Assistant secretary of the navy Beekman Winthrop has promised to come to this city and tell us a few things about the navy before the Board of Trade. While that distinguished gentleman is on his visit here, we might ask him a few important questions about our naval station.

Want Nothing But the Oil.

It has been suggested that in the summer of 1913 all the streets of this city be sprinkled with oil and that the water sprinkling be dropped for good. Not a bad idea.

Working Quietly For the Yard.

It is not generally known but it is nevertheless a fact that a lot of good quiet work is being done in behalf of the local navy yard.

Bird's-Eye Views.

When a Princeton student admits that he has neglected his studies owing to the fascinations of Mr. Wilson's public discourse, discipline is likely to be difficult.

Lord Mersey's personal opinion of J. Bruce Ismay, as indicated by running comment, is calculated to spoil some of the satisfaction in a technical vindication.

Unless Mr. Pinchot comes to the front pretty soon with a ringing declaration, the subject of conservation is liable to seem less important than the tariff.

Some of the men who have forsaken Roosevelt may return to him after there is no danger of being nominated for Vice-President on his ticket.

Dr. Wiley thinks of taking the stump for the Democratic party. Politics, as well as chemistry, has its reactions.

We rise to ask "Is there a bigger hold-up than the toll bridges around this city?"

Good Old Souls.

My dame is old and I am old.
We're dazed and dim and dull and cold;
But what care I and what care she?
We're happy folk whatever be.

Time was when she was young and gay,
Would smirk and smile and dance away;
Though dancing does not now agree,
We jog on happy, I and she.

And I was once a lively boy,
Would sing my song and pipe for joy;
No more of piping now for me,
Yet all our days are harmony.

We do not bill and coo and kiss;
A loving hug would come amiss;
To old rheumatic bones, you see;
But that is naught to her and me.

In summer, when the sun is hot,
We toddle round our garden plot;
And bask a bit and watch the bee;
It hums for joy and so do we.

And when the winter snows and blows,
We sit beside the fire and dose;
Or laugh and chat and drink our tea,
With "Here's to you!"—from her and me.

Our earthly race is nearly run,
We're getting both so old and done;
But bodies old as old may be
While souls are young so what care we!

For when it's time for us to die,
We don't intend to say good-bye;
Since neither death, nor life, you see,
Shall part my dear old dame from me.

—Earl of Southark.

Canada Looking Toward the Sea.

Our English kinsmen realize the importance of ocean shipbuilding. So manifestly do the Canadians. The people of Sydney, Cape Breton, who have a site worth $370,000 and exemption from taxes to the Dominion and Steel Company, have now followed this with a gift of $1,000,000 to the British-Canadian Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company to establish a construction and repair plant at their port. This is not a subscription from business men. It is a bonus voted from the municipal treasury of Sydney by the tax payers.

Scotch ship builders from the Clyde, members of famous firms are at the head of the new undertaking. A slip of Sydney harbor 300 acres in extent has been secured. For years our Canadian neighbors have witnessed the steady decline of their maritime industries. Their wooden shipyards have gone to rack and ruin and no steel yards have taken their place.

Canadian tonnage once strong on the high seas, has shrunk to a skeleton fleet of petty coasters. Though Canadian registry is open to the British built vessels, few have been brought beneath the flag.

Our Nova Scotia friends believe that they must now begin with the beginning and secure ship yards first confident that ships will follow. The action of the people of Sydney is a vigorous stroke of self reliance that cannot but provoke a hearty recognition from New England.

Of course the Clyde ship builders would be glad to continue indefinitely to supply at a low price all the tonnage which Canadian trade required, but the new Canadian spirit looks far ahead. Sydney, already a busy iron and steel centre, is determined to add to its industries the building and operation of ocean ships. Canadians at the present day have not forgotten the wealth which the ocean used to yield to Halifax and St. John to Yarmouth, Truro and Hantsport, when stout wooden, home-built square-riggers sailed on every sea.—Boston Herald.

The Crime of the Railroads.

If a business man finds one of his employees trifling with the funds he interposes a check to stop the pilfering. If at some crowded place a person is pushed off the edge of a declivity and injured or killed a stout railing is usually erected as a safeguard. In almost all of the activities of life the positive warnings are heeded and steps are taken to prevent repetitions of disaster. Not so, however, in the transportation world. Scores upon scores of times the fact has been demonstrated that it is unsafe to trust the running of trains exclusively to human agencies, that signal men will make mistakes, that dispatchers will suffer lapses of memory and that engineers will take chances in running past signals, with the result of collisions costing heavily in lives. Yet, although the remedy for such a dangerous condition lies at hand in the adoption of a form of automatic cut-off, positively stopping a train that enters a prohibited or occupied block, the railroads of this country refuse to adopt it, on the ground that it is unnecessary and that it would interfere with the moving of the traffic.

Within the past two weeks there have been three rear-end collisions, costing a total of about seventy-five lives, at Gibbon, N. Y., on the Lackawanna; at Lilgonier, Pa., on a small mining road; and at Hinsdale, Chicago, on the "Burlington." All of these were of the utterly preventable type and all were due to a lack of efficient signaling and train stopping. The latter "only" week may be cast out of the calculation as this line is not well serviced or heavily traveled. Both the

NATURE FAVORS ACTIVE AND BUSY LIFE

CONNOISSEURS say that fish living lazily in deep pools where existence is easy are poor in quality, whereas those in running water where food is hard to get and dangers are all around to be guarded against have the finest, the real exquisite flavor.

So it would seem that nature favors the strenuous life—not that purposeless, resultless buzzing about in the gilded cage which some people call life, any more than the eternal sitting with folded hands and empty brain, but the great common lot, that of hustling for a living—for self and loved ones.

Plenty of love, work and play are what are good for us—play to build us up when we are weary, work to keep us from getting into mischief, love to make work worth while.

And if we are unhappy, most likely there is something wrong with that great life trinity. The ideal lot would be congenial work—that into which one could put one's very best, loving and being loved by delightful people, and having the means of real recreation—that which verily recreates—always at hand.

But in this very practical world, which is only a training school anyhow, it would seem that it is enough for the average man if these three are present even in imperfection.

Most of us must love very ordinary folks, for we are ourselves of the ordinary sort; most of us haven't had the time or means to develop all that may be in us, much less find the round or square holes that exactly fit our round or square shapes; most of us can't choose between golf, automobile, tennis, horseback riding and fancy gymnastics at the athletic club, but must content ourselves with walking home from business or a game of ball with the boys in the back yard.

But only when we love heartily and work well and play whenever we get a chance will life be wholesome, human, real.

Burlington and the Lackawanna, however, are supposedly well equipped and manned and represent a high type of American railroad efficiency. Yet on these roads all the safeguards failed and in each case a train was either admitted to or intruded upon a block of track on which a passenger train was standing.

Congress could do nothing so highly conducive to the public welfare as to pass immediately without further investigation to demonstrate a need that is already plainly evidenced by rapidly recurring tragedies an act peremptorily requiring the railroads of this country to adopt some form of automatic train stop as a supplement to the block signal system and a positive preventive of collisions. Surely the need has been sufficiently proved in this past fortnight through a sacrifice of nearly fourscore of human lives, the responsibility for which lies directly upon the owners and managers of the several railroads on which three collisions have occurred.

Coroners' juries may place the blame for these fatalities upon this or that official, or operative, upon engineer or signal man or train dispatcher. But the real blame rests with the directors of the railroads themselves, who have turned a deaf ear to the inventors who for years have been trying to get them to adopt a device which would in the past two decades have saved probably 5,000 lives and an immense amount of property.

A reference of this question to the interstate commerce commission or to any other body for investigation and report will be a mere temporizing that is almost certain to cost heavily. Head-on and rear-end collisions are sure to occur as long as reliance is placed upon the people in the signal towers and the engine cab. If the railroads could be trusted to move even in their own interest, if not in the interest of the public, by making certain against these collisions which

Mr. Lorimer and the Future.

William Lorimer declares that "the fight"—for his vindication—"will go on and on." That is his promise, and that may be his purpose. He is comparatively a young man, and has many friends in Illinois. Although prominent in business, he is much more prominent in politics and probably prefers politics to any other field of activity. It seems very likely, therefore, that in time he will try his hand again at a game he knows and loves so well.

It is suggested that as a preliminary step to another senatorial campaign he may offer for his old seat in the House and, obtaining that, use it as a stepping-stone.

Among his near neighbors Mr. Lorimer has always enjoyed, and is said to still enjoy, much popularity. He is a hearty man in his rise from humble circumstances he has acquired no feebly in his old congressional district he is still "Bing" Lorimer—a good fellow whom fortune has not spoiled.

In the defense of himself in the Senate Mr. Lorimer showed how political power is acquired in a crowded city, district. The man who knows how to grip others to him by kind words and considerate treatment. In a variety of ways he casts bread upon the water.

It is easily to understand, too, Mr. Lorimer's influence as a speaker over a popular audience. With small regard for the question at issue, he talks ramblingly, but always interestingly. The senate heard him with unflagging attention. Picked men, familiar with all the rules and tricks of oratory and debate, followed with a sort of pleasure a discourse almost without form and void, but thoroughly human throughout. It was a treat of its kind.

But behind it all stared the grim and repulsive fact that corruption had obtained at Springfield in the election of Mr. Lorimer to the Senate. This being plain to a large majority of the Senate, duty could not be shirked. Mr. Lorimer's good nature and human speech and appeal had nothing to do with the case. Every consideration of good government called for the cancellation of his commission; and that was done.

And the verdict will stand. Mr. Lorimer's election to the House two years from now would not set it aside, neither would his election to the Senate four or six years from now wash out the facts established as to his election three years ago. That election investigation has shown, was secured by bribery, and Mr. Lorimer has paid a proper penalty for holding a commission so tarnished.

The vote of the Senate is assuring nothing to character and size. Two to one is a formidable majority on any question but especially so on a question in which many cross-elements are mixed.—Washington Star.

EDITOR McDUFFEE DEFINES A TAFT PROGRESSIVE

Tells What Reforms Have Taken Place in the Granite State Under the Progressives.

Last Saturday's Washington Times contained the following editorial:

What is a Taft Progressive?

By way of the Rochester Courier, one of the leading weeklies of New Hampshire, we learn that "A TAFT PROGRESSIVE is about the only sort of candidate that can be elected governor this fall."

What is a TAFT PROGRESSIVE? It must be peculiar to the New Hampshire fauna. There is only one known species of beast or bird that can go backward as fast as it can go forward and the nature books do not give the Granite State as its habitat.

We are interested in this new form of life. We want to know more about it. Does it have claws or wings? Does it walk erect or crawl? Is the female more deadly than the male and does it live in a cave or roost in a tree? Can it be caught alive? And if so with what bait?

We and the rest of the world are waiting. Tell us more about it.

The Courier editor has sent to the Washington Times the following answer:

To the Editor of the Washington Times.

In your issue of last Saturday is an editorial, entitled, "What is a Taft Progressive?" It is written in a facetious vein, apropos to a statement, in the Rochester, N. H., Courier, to the effect that "A Taft Progressive is about the only sort of candidate that can be elected governor this fall." You conclude the editorial with this paragraph: "We and the rest of the world are waiting. Tell us more about it."

"Telling you at your word, I will try to tell you briefly what we mean by a Taft Progressive in New Hampshire. The Granite State is some distance from the national capital and Washington is proverbially ignorant of the political situation in other sections of the country. Hence, perhaps your question is not so strange as it might seem."

New Hampshire has within the past few years earned the reputation of being one of the most progressive states in the union. Dominated completely by its big railroad corporation and large manufacturing interests that worked with the railroad for many years, a revolt was started in 1906 by a brave band, who burned all their bridges behind them and entered the fight, when all who beheld either sneered, belittled the movement or despaired of its ever achieving anything. Winston Churchill was put forward as the candidate for governor of the new historic thirteen men who started this organization, at first under the name of the Lincoln Republicans of New Hampshire and later as the Progressive Republicans.

Churchill was defeated by fraud in the convention, but the enthusiastic little band kept up the fight, now largely augmented in numbers. They finally got control of the state, enacted a direct primary law, the first complete one in the East, I believe; passed anti-trust legislation; established a public service commission with the fullest powers; adopted a stringent corrupt practices act; and in a nutshell accomplished all that had been aimed at and considered in addition that was not dreamed of in the inception of the movement. The state has been freed absolutely from the railroad domination and can never go back to the old conditions.

Governor Bass was not one of the originators of this movement. But he was a zealous convert and had the hearty support in his campaign of all the Progressive party. He had it later in his acts as governor, and from nobody to a greater extent than from the writer, who sacrificed time, money and peace of mind to assist in the great work.

When, however, Gov. Bass essayed to deliver the vote of the state to Theodore Roosevelt for a third term in the Presidency, a large number of the Governor's associates and fellow workers refused absolutely to follow him. Opposed to boss rule as much as Gov. Bass or any other man, abhorring corrupt politics and with their fighting toga still on against any form of corporation control, these men differed from Gov. Bass completely as to the wise course to pursue in national politics. While admitting that President Taft had made mistakes politically and deploring his seeming surrender to the renegades at times, we still felt that heroic and statesmanlike advocacy of great measures, like universal arbitration of national differences, reciprocity with Canada and many other things, far outweighed any of these little political disappointments. We felt a serious menace to our national institutions and government in the overweening ambitions of the third-term seeker. We knew that President Taft had actually done more to enforce the Sherman Anti-trust law than had Mr. Roosevelt with all the latter's shouting.

Accordingly, we called a meeting of the Progressives of New Hampshire, who refused to follow the Governor's lead in this matter, and at this meeting the writer had the honor to preside.

There were as many present as were the meeting when Gov. Bass formed his Roosevelt organization. Included in the list were three of the original thirteen, who originated the Progressive movement in this state, before Gov. Bass had ever been heard of.

This meeting of the Progressives of New Hampshire who supported President Taft for renomination and re-election, undoubtedly carried the state for the President. And the moral effect of the New Hampshire victory, coming at the psychological moment, has often been acknowledged to have been the deciding factor in the campaign.

The Progressives of New Hampshire who supported and still support President Taft include such men in their ranks as ex-President William J. Tucker of Dartmouth College, Prof. James F. Colby of Dartmouth, Hon. Sherman H. Burroughs of Manchester, who made such a vigorous contest two years ago for Sulloway's seat in Congress, Hon. R. W. Pillsbury of the Manchester Union, William H. Walbridge of Milford member of the committee of the last house on railroad rate legislation, and scores of others whom we cannot enumerate for lack of space. As one of them voices our attitude, it is this: "We believe in evolution, not revolution."

If they do not know what a Taft Progressive is in other parts of the country, we know up here in New Hampshire mighty well. It is a Progressive without personal ambitions to serve, it is a Progressive who is not an office-holder under Gov. Bass and not an office-seeker under him, Roosevelt or any other man; it is a Progressive who looks with broad views at national questions and whose love of country is higher than his desire for gratification of personal spite; it is a Progressive to whom the lingo of the prize ring does not appear as an argument for his vote in a national election; it is a Progressive who has the ideal of universal peace among nations as the goal of world progress, who will therefore support the President who has made this the greatest of living issues and who will never lend support for an instant, no matter what other qualifications he may have, to any man who opposes this magnificent movement for the good of all mankind.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE AT ROCKINGHAM PARK

Large Attendance and Speeches By Mr. Lyford, Ex-Gov. Quinby and Clarence Carr.

The State Board of Trade held a largely attended meeting on Tuesday at Rockingham park. There were one hundred and fifty present, from the different boards of the state.

There were three speakers, Ex-Governor H. B. Quinby, who spoke on "Good Roads," Hon. Clarence E. Carr, spoke on the Constitutional Convention, and Hon. James Lyford spoke on the amendments to the Constitution, and he said:

Mr. Lyford's Speech.

The Constitutional Convention of 1912 was called primarily to supplement the work of the convention of 1902 on the subject of taxation. At least, this was the moving cause with the legislature that issued the call. The convention of 1902 intended to amend the constitution so that the legislature should have authority to tax inheritances, grading and rating them in accordance with the amount of property passing with reasonable exemptions, and to give the legislature authority to classify property for the purposes of taxation. Article 6 of the constitution before the amendment of 1902 read as follows:

And, while the public charges of government or any part thereof shall be assessed on polls and estates in the manner that has heretofore been practiced, in order that such assessments may be made with equality, there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years at least and as much as the General Court shall order.

This article was amended in 1902 by striking out all qualifying terms and the words "in the manner that has heretofore been practiced, in order that such assessments may be made with equality," and substituting after "polls and estates" the words "and other classes of property, including franchises and property when passing by will or inheritance" so that the section read:

"The public charges of government or any part thereof may be raised by taxation upon polls, estates and other classes of property including franchises and property when passing by will or inheritance; and there shall be a valuation of the estates, et cetera."

It was the belief of the convention that if the legislature made the taxes proportional within each class of property and graded taxes on inheritances proportionately among direct heirs or collateral heirs and strangers to the blood such taxes would be within the meaning of this article as amended.

Our Supreme Court thought differently and further amendment of the constitution became necessary.

The desire of other amendments of the organic law such as the reduction of the size of the House of Representatives and the increase in the membership of the Senate, was incidental to this main purpose of calling the convention. It is doubtful if the people would have considered a convention necessary but for the situation that has faced several legislatures since 1902 on this question of taxation. I shall, therefore, confine myself today to the fourth proposition submitted by the convention of 1912 to the people for their ratification.

The third proposition which relates to the taxation of inheritances, if adopted, will enable the legislature to provide for a graduated inheritance tax with reasonable exemptions, so that large estates passing by will or inheritance may be taxed at a higher rate than small estates, the latter being entirely exempt from taxation if the legislature so orders. This amendment is merely in line with the practice prevailing in other states and in furtherance of the intention of the convention of 1902.

The Committee on Legislative Department appointed a sub-committee consisting of Mr. Fellows, Mr. Fowler and myself to prepare an explanation of the fourth proposition submitted to the people and with the approval of the other members of the committee to publish the same. Since then your invitation has been received. I am, therefore, presenting to you not only my personal views of this proposed amendment and my reasons why it should be adopted but also those of the following named members of the committee on legislative department: Lyford of Concord, Morris of Lancaster, Watson of Nashua, Fellows of Tilton, Barton of Newport, Whittemore of Dover, Martin of Concord, Evans of Gorham, Scammon of Exeter, Demerrell of Durham, Lamberg of Manchester, Foyler of Pembroke, Cain of Keene, Carter of Lebanon, Wallcut of Rochester, Mitchell of Portsmouth and Fessenden of Brookline.

In general terms what is sought by the fourth amendment submitted to the people is the preservation of our forests and the increase of the revenue of the towns by the classification of intangibles for the purposes of taxation.

Embodied in the amendment is a provision for the taxation of savings bank deposits at the present exceptional rate to avoid any question of its constitutionality should that question ever be directly raised.

An alternative also would be granted to the legislature of taxing the income of intangibles and to graduate such taxes according to the amount of income instead of resorting to a flat tax upon the principal. In other words, the legislature could classify intangibles so that the principal could be taxed at a lower rate than property, or the legislature could levy a tax on the income of such intangibles. It could do both.

Stock in foreign corporations and foreign voluntary associations is not now taxable under the decision of our Supreme Court. The proposed amendment authorizes taxing the income of such stocks but not the principal.

The language of the amendment prepared by the Committee on Legislative Department is intended to cover these propositions. Embracing as it amendment does several propositions with some in the alternative, it was impossible to state the amendment in more concise terms.

Reviewing this amendment clause by clause, its purpose is to give the legislature authority:

1. To specially assess, rate and tax growing wood and timber.

Growing wood and timber being crops that it takes years to mature there is a demand by the people that it shall not be taxed at a rate that will compel harvesting in advance of maturity. This amendment enables the legislature to legalize a practice of the selection of towns that is not now sanctioned by law. Furthermore, it is very difficult for selection to properly estimate the value of a growing crop of wood and timber that is ten, fifteen or twenty years of age. This amendment will not result in a loss of revenue to the towns, but it will tend to preserve the forest growth of New Hampshire, so important to the welfare of the state.

2. To specially assess, rate and tax money at interest, including money in savings banks.

The term "money at interest" embraces money on deposit, bonds, mortgages and credits. These are all included under the general term intangibles, a term that has not yet received judicial interpretation. Hence the language used in the amendment. When we speak of intangibles, we refer merely to evidence of debt or pieces of paper, which if destroyed result in no destruction of property.

The property, wherever situated is taxed anyway, and taxing these pieces of paper is double taxation. At the same time there is a feeling that it is only fair that people living in this state with an interest in property outside the state should contribute something to the support of the police, fire and other protection they receive in common with people whose property is located and taxed within the state.

It is estimated by our state Tax Commission that there is, upward of $100,000,000 of intangibles owned by citizens of New Hampshire, yet only a rising five percent of this was amount is returned for taxation. The reason for this is shown in the experiences of all states and countries that try to tax intangibles at the same rate that property is taxed. If the income from intangibles is 4 per cent, which is the rate for high grade bonds, a tax of 2 per cent, which is the average tax of the towns of New Hampshire, results in a confiscation of half of the income. No scheme of forcing the disclosure of intangibles for taxation at the same rate that property is taxed has ever been successful, no matter how drastic the provisions, or how law may be. Intangibles are either hidden, sold or the holder moves out of the state.

On the other hand, states like Maryland and Pennsylvania, whose constitutions permit the classification of property for the purpose of taxation, have solved this problem satisfactorily to themselves by taxing intangibles at about the rate that savings bank deposits are taxed, with the result that the local communities in those states receive a larger revenue from the small tax rate than they did from the old method of taxation.

One illustration will answer the purpose of this statement. The city of Baltimore had returned $6,000,000 of intangibles when they were taxed at the same rate as property. In twelve years after the legislature of Maryland provided for their taxation at a lower rate, the amount of intangibles voluntarily returned for taxation had increased to $150,000,000. This shows that people are disposed to be honest if the tax rate is not confiscatory of the income and that the revenue of towns can be increased by this method of taxing intangibles.

If New Hampshire should tax its $100,000,000 of intangibles at a rate that would secure the voluntary return of substantially the whole amount, it is apparent that the town revenues of the state would be materially increased over what accrues to them from attempting to tax $5,000,000 of intangibles at the same rate as property is taxed.

Our state has tried a similar experiment in taxing savings bank deposits at a lower rate than other property, with the result that $90,000,000 of deposits are taxed, the greater part of which would escape taxation if taxed at the same rate as other property.

This part of the fourth amendment merely enables the legislature to try an experiment that has been successful in other states. It does not compel the legislature to follow the experiment if it should not prove successful in New Hampshire. Of all of the tax amendments submitted, their adoption simply confers authority upon the legislature to act if that body sees fit. The Constitutional Convention in no way assumed the prerogatives of the legislature. The latter body may still be representative of the wishes of its constituents, the people. It is not handicapped by these amendments. It may either act under them or it may refuse to act, as the people desire.

The inclusion of savings bank deposits in this clause of the amendment is solely for the purpose of de-

SENATE TO HEAR JUDGE ARCHBOLD

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Judge Robert W. Archbold of the Commerce Court, the ninth man in the history of the United States to be impeached for "high crimes and misdemeanors," was summoned today before the Senate to stand trial upon charges made by the House.

Following strictly the rules and order laid down in the code begun more than a century ago, the Senate took up the formal proceedings. The fall of the gavel cut short other business as Senator Gallinger, acting president, announced that the hour for the trial had arrived.

There was a moment of confusion as the Senate unable to interpret rules out of use since 1904 sought a method of administering the oaths that would change the body into the high court of impeachment contemplated by the constitution.

Acting President Gallinger had first to be sworn in as presiding officer, but none could say who should do it. Senator Shelby McCulloch, the oldest member, was finally designated, on motion of Senator Smoot.

Senator Gallinger then swore the Senators to their duties as judges. In parties of eight, selected alphabetically, they came forward to the bar and swore to "do impartial justice."

All Senators took the oath except Rankin, Brown, Chilton, Curtis Davis, Wilson, DuPont, Kern, Penrose, Tolendexter, Rayner, Richardson and Watson, who were absent.

As the last retired to his seat, Senator Clark of Wyoming, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, presented the formal resolution, to inform the House that the Senate now sat as the "high court of impeachment" and was prepared to receive the House of Representatives and its committee of managers.

FORT McHENRY MAY BE CONVERTED INTO MUSEUM

Congress is Expected to Pass Bill to Preserve Historic Spot

Having lost its strategic value as a post for the defense of Baltimore, Fort McHenry has been heretofore its garrison by orders from the War Department. If a bill pending in Congress becomes a law, which is almost assured, the historic old fort will be preserved as a government reservation and a museum of historical relics. For some time the fort has been garrisoned by the 11st Company of Coast Artillery. That company has just been ordered to take station at Fort Strong, near Boston, and will leave Baltimore in a few days.

Unless Congress makes other provision in the meantime the old fort will then be left solely to the care and attention of a few soldiers of the quarter-master's department of the army. Their business will be to protect the property and look after the roads and lawns. The grim old smoothbore peering over the embankments then will be all that remains of the paraphernalia of war.

Known the world over as the scene and inspiration of the writing of the national hymn "The Star Spangled Banner," by the young Georgetown lawyer, Francis Scott Key, the bombardment of Fort McHenry was one of the brave and strategic struggles of the war of 1812. The actual bombardment took place Tuesday, September 12, 1814, and continued until the next morning, which later was the day of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Rayner bill for the preservation of the fort as a government reservation and museum has been placed on the unanimous consent calendar of the House, and probably will be called up for action in a day or two.

TILLMAN LAUNCHES HIS PEACEMAKER

Bill to Investigate proposition of Building World's Greatest Battleship is Passed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The cause of peace has a militant champion in the Senate in the person of Senator Tillman of South Carolina, who today introduced a resolution, without debate, ordering the Committee on Naval Affairs to investigate and report on the proposition of building a battleship or cruiser "that would be the greatest the world has ever seen or will see" and which would be called "Terror" and which would be the peacemaker of the world. The Tillman resolution, which already has been printed, specifies that the committee shall ascertain what is the maximum thickness, armor, weight of armament, speed and draft, caused a mild sensation as its sarcastic purpose became clear. Senator Smoot started to say something about it, but Senator Tillman asked for immediate consideration, and it was passed.

BLAME NATION FOR FLOODS

Question of Liability for Damage Along Mississippi Submitted to Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The long-disputed question of the extent of the Federal Government's liability for the overflowing of land along the Mississippi River, through the construction of levees at other points in the river course, has been laid before the Supreme Court of the United States. It involves millions of dollars of claims against the Government.

The question arose in appeals from decisions by the Court of Claims.

The Perfect Toilet

The perfect toilet is best accomplished with hot water available in unlimited quantities.

Mary E. Hughes, owner of the Timberlake Plantation in Mississippi, opposite Arkansas City, was awarded $30,000 damages. Mistle W. Jackson, owner of lowland, about forty miles below Natchez, Miss., recovered nothing. Loyces had been omitted in front of their land while built at other points.

BELTS AND SUSPENDERS.

Inventive genius has conquered the land, the sea and the air, annihilated time and space, abolished poverty for a few and made life easier for the many, given us smokeless powder, seedless oranges and dustless dusters and performed all manner of wonders, but it hasn't yet devised a perfectly cool and comfortable attire for men in summer.

What we really need is some sort of habilitment that will adjust itself automatically to changes of temperature—something that will feel comfortable on muggy as well as on chilly days in summer. That of course is hardly possible. If it were not for suspenders men might get along fairly well, despite the fact that suspenders are said to be unhygienic, to cause sloping shoulders and to hinder the free expansion of the lungs.

These, however, are all minor objections compared with the drybuck imposed by style. It is highly improper, if not actually indecent to show one's suspenders in public. No one knows why. Probably because some one who had nothing better to think about first suggested it. Belts encircling either a swelling or a flat abdomen may be worn with impunity and without a coat. But not suspenders. For men whose hips are small nothing more uncomfortable than belts could possibly have been devised. They are as harmful to the digestive organs as a daily quick lunch. They cause dyspepsia. But they are good form.

The alternative to suspenders and belts would be buttonholes in the trousers and buttons on the shirt. But that would not only consume a lot of valuable time in buttoning and unbuttoning, but it would also put extra weight on the shoulders; tend to drag the shirt from under the collar and increase the discomfort about the neck.

Clearly some more rational hot-weather attire for men is necessary.—Boston Globe.

NO PACT.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Attorney General Wickersham stated positively this morning that no agreement as to a decree of dissolution of the United Shoe Machinery Company was reached at the Department by the attorneys.

A NEW REMEDY FOR SKIN TROUBLES

Many skin troubles are not caused by the blood as most people think. External treatment is therefore the most direct and rational way to effect a cure. A chemist who was convinced of this fact found that an extract of the plant Juniperus Oxycodrus was most soothing and healing to an irritated, inflamed or diseased Cadum. This new compound was skin. By a special method of treating ingredients, and is known as ment this vegetable extract is now combined with other antiseptic, healing and other distressing skin diseases after other remedies had failed. It stops the terrible itching with the first application. Cadum can be used with confidence in all skin affections of infants and adults. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, blotches, rashes, eruptions, sores, rough skin, chafings, itching piles. Of all drugstore.

Washington, July 16.—Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, left Washington early today for New York to organize the campaign for the re-election of President Taft. Mr. Hilles, it was said today, had not severed his connection with the White House, and it is believed, he will resume his position as secretary to the President next November.

Mr. Hilles is not expected to spend all of his time in New York, but will be in frequent consultation with the President and other party leaders here as long as Congress is in session, and is expected to visit the headquarters to be established in Chicago and the West.

EXETER LETTER

Max Cohen, who lives on the Kensington road, found a strange horse in his barn early Sunday morning, feeding from the grain box in the building. The police were at once notified but there was no notice of any stolen equine at the police headquarters.

Early yesterday morning, however, Napoleon Carrier of Rippington sent word to chief Beverly S. McGaughey that his horse was missing and that a search was being made in Kingston. It was learned that a stray horse had been found in Exeter. Late in the day Mr. Currier came here and claimed his own. It is a strange case and there is no way of knowing what the horse was stolen or broke its halter and wandered away.

It is thought however, that the animal was stolen as there was a strange halter about its neck and there were signs that it had been driven as the hair was worn off under the neck and the head was also scratched some. The animal was hitched securely in the barn Saturday night.

Auctioneer John H. Elkins was on the spot Tuesday morning for the advertised sale of the Exeter Machine Works, which had been postponed from June 28, to announce that the sale was again postponed until Aug. 4. It is a mortgagee's sale by the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, and the works are the oldest of Exeter's industries, being the leading industry for many years.

Thomas H. Ford the well known driver of the American express team is this week enjoying a vacation, which he intends to spend in town and other locations.

John A. Glassey a former overseer in the Exeter Manufacturing Company, and who is now holding a similar position in the mills at Suncook, was a visitor here yesterday, accompanied by his son.

The first anniversary of the founding of the Goodwill lodge of Rebekahs at Newfields has been commemorated by appropriate exercises by the members. The lodge was instituted July 12, 1911, and is the youngest Rebekah lodge in the state, the membership having been increased materially since the organization.

Alexander Lord of the Boston Elevated road is spending a short time with his parents here.

William McLane who has been at Hampton Beach during the summer, was today taken to the Exeter cottage hospital with an attack of typhoid fever.

RAILROAD NOTES

Several of the old conductors in the passenger service on the Portland division of the Boston & Maine will shortly retire on a pension.

The switching engine in the yard of the Frank Jones Brewing Company went off the iron on Tuesday requiring the services of the local and Boston wrecking crews.

Conductor Frank Erlic who has been away from duty for the past nine months resumed his run between Wolfeboro and Boston on Tuesday.

The hearing in the rate raises case which was scheduled to go on before the public service commission today, was indefinitely postponed, and it is indicated that the end of the proceeding has been reached so far as the taking of testimony is concerned.

The matter was referred to the commission to determine the justification of the raise in freight rates by the Boston & Maine road in 1903, and to report the facts with recommendations to the incoming legislature.

The hearing before the commission commenced on December 27, of last year, and have been conducted since that date to the present time.

Practically all that remains to submit to the commission are the results of the valuation of passenger and freight earnings in New Hampshire, and the estimate of the revenue received under the raise in rates gained by the compiling of the business of the road done in New Hampshire on 12 sample days.

SAVES HER SISTER FROM DROWNING

Rockport, July 16.—Only the presence of mind of 16-year-old May Lippin saved her 12-year-old sister, Anna, from drowning this afternoon. The two girls had gone in swimming in an abandoned quarry pit near Pigeon Cove, when the elder girl, who had gone beyond her depth, started to sink and screamed for help.

Her sister left the water and ran to a neighbor's house about 600 feet away, calling. Mrs. Thornton Weeks, officiating. "Face to Face" Interment was in the Greenland cemetery, under the direction of H. W. Nickerson. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Charles H. Brackley, Harrie T. Holmes, Arnold.

NAVY PRISONER ESCAPES FROM HIS GUARD

While on Way to this City Jumps Off Moving Train

One of three navy prisoners on their way to the naval prison here from the receiving ship Hancock at New York yard made a daring escape from a Boston & Maine train in the railroad yard just outside the North Union station at Boston this morning.

The prisoner, James Dennis, an old railroad man, knew a few things about getting off a train. Dennis, with two other prisoners, was in the smoking car of the 9 o'clock express for Portland. The train had proceeded but a short way when Dennis jumped from the car landing on the trestle work near the draw. The master-at-arms who was escorting them as guard placed the section with the breaking and entering job at the residence of Charles Assay on Water street for which three of the crew are already held. One of the men whom the police now request the navy officers to turn over, has given the story to the civil authorities and admits being with the others. The commanding officer informed the civil authorities that he must put the case up to the department at Washington before the men can be released.

The writs calling for their arrest were sent forward to the department today.

SAY THEY FEAR COAL SHORTAGE

Because of the shortage of freight cars it is said that coal dealers and railroad officials fear a condition similar to results to a coal shortage this fall and winter. Unless conditions change within two weeks, railroad men declare the tied-up car situation this fall will be the worst experienced in railroad traffic in 25 years.

Retail coal dealers and large industrial consumers who are watching the situation closely assert that if the car shortage increases very high prices for coal will prevail, and that there is no telling how high the figures will rise.

Boston Sports Take Marblehead Police Officer Along With Them and Pay His Car Fare Back.

On Monday night a party of sports from Boston on their way to Portland in a big touring car were held up by this cop at Marblehead, who claimed that the machine was not properly lighted.

"I must place you under arrest," said the officer, as he took a look at the bunch of boxing artists in the buzz wagon.

"Very well," said the driver, "Jump in and show us the den; we will pay all that is necessary to buy a few new lamp-posts for the town," and with that the pride of the gumshoe squad jumped aboard.

There was no stop till he reached this city. Two big huskies held him
